He was a sympathizer with the poor, the suffering and the oppressed; and by his death, one of England's greatest writers is lost to the world.

~Inscription on Dickens' tombstone at Poet's Corner, Westminster Abbey

Charles Dickens was born in Landport (now part of Portsmouth), England, Feb. 7, 1812. In 1824, he was given his first position in business in the employ of Warren's Blacking Factory, Chatham. For six months, young Dickens adhered labels to containers of blacking, and perhaps unknowingly, collected material for what would become world-famous portrayals of Victorian England's working class.

At 15, he entered the professions, taking a position as clerk at Ellis and Blackmore, attorneys. In between his clerking and evening shorthand lessons, he wooed his first love, Maria Beadnell, a flirtatious young lady whose deep impressions on Dickens would be reflected in Little Dorrit, written nearly 30 years after their courtship. Forsaking Miss Beadnell, in 1836 he met and married Catherine Hogarth, who would bear him 10 children, and began the publication of The Pickwick Papers.

With the birth year of nearly each of his children came the writing or publication of a major work. In 1837, with the birth of his first son, Charles Jr., came Oliver Twist. In 1838, with the arrival of Mary, Nicholas Nickleby was begun. In 1843, just prior to the birth of Francis Jeffrey, A Christmas Carol was created.

The first of his Christmas books, A Christmas Carol quickly became a favorite of the people. It would be followed by The Chimes, Dombey and Son and Christmas Stories.

Shortly after the publication of A Christmas Carol, Dickens moved his family from their London home to settle, briefly, in Genoa, Italy, and later moved on to Switzerland and Paris. During these years away from London, his best-known works included Cricket on the Hearth, The Battle of Life and the first installments of David Copperfield.

After returning to England, Dickens would spend his later years creating some of his most internationally acclaimed works including Bleak House (1859), A Tale of Two Cities (1859) and Great Expectations (1861). In 1870, the first installment of The Mystery of Edwin Drood was published, and the author made his last public appearance. Dickens died in his home at Gad's Hill Place on June 9, 1870.

Engraving of Charles Dickens from A Portrait Gallery of Eminent Men and Women of Europe and America, with Biographies, by Evert A. Duykinck (1872).
Imagine yourself in London in Charles Dickens’ time. Nearly two million Londoners, rich and poor alike, spill into the city streets filled with manure left by thousands of horse-drawn carriages. Smoke swarms out of chimneys and soot coats all that it falls upon. In parts of the city, raw sewage pours from the gutters into the Thames—the main water supply. A common laborer’s average weekly wage was three schillings, nine pence (a schilling was worth twelve pence, or 1/20th of a pound, which was worth 120 pence). A loaf of bread cost about two pence and rent for the year cost about 25 pounds. However, this was a luckier existence than the destitution of those poor folk who would receive aid in the form of employment in a workhouse.

Dickens made sure the voices of the unfortunate were heard in his work, along with huge doses of good humor and myriad evocations of the joys of home and hearth. He continues to do the same for us today. In all of his stories, we remember that there are those less fortunate than ourselves. We remember that there are those willing to change. Most importantly, we remember that there is hope.

“IT IS A FAIR, EVEN-HANDED, NOBLE ADJUSTMENT OF THINGS, THAT WHILE THERE IS INFECTION IN DISEASE AND SORROW, THERE IS NOTHING IN THE WORLD SO IRRESISTIBLY CONTAGIOUS AS LAUGHTER AND GOOD HUMOUR.”

– Charles Dickens

Games for a Victorian Christmas

FORFEITS

To play, the guests choose a “Constable,” the British term for a police officer, who then exits the room. Once the Constable is out of earshot each player “forfeits” an article, be it a pen, brooch, bracelet, etc., into a pile. The Constable enters the room blindfolded and unaware of what object each player has deposited into the pile. The object of the game is for the Constable to match the article to the person by only feeling the object. If the Constable is correct the owner must obey an order of the Constable, something silly like doing a dance or reciting a funny phrase, to have their item returned to them. If the Constable incorrectly matches the article to the owner, the owner of the object gives the Constable something silly to do. This continues until all of the items in the pile have been given back. The Constable wins if he or she can match owner with article more times correctly than incorrectly. At the end the Constable chooses a replacement and the game starts all over.

DICTIONARY

His parlor game is not only good for Christmas, but for any occasion. The guests all receive a piece of paper and a pen and sit around a table. This game requires a dictionary from which each party guest picks a word, preferably one that is unknown to the other guests. After writing the chosen word down on a piece of paper, he or she must create four definitions for the word, one being correct and three being incorrect. Then all of the words are read aloud with their definitions. The person who can identify the most correct definitions wins.

Example: Humbug

A. Something said during Christmastime to welcome someone to a holiday party.
B. A person or thing that tricks or deceives.
C. A singing bug.
D. Someone who gives to charities.
Find the Hidden Objects

“Hurray for the Pudding!” Peer into this Victorian dining room and find cleverly hidden images. Look for the following: duck, mug, horse-and-cart, sheep, train, spoon, knife, fork, jack-in-the-box, tea cup, trumpet, elephant and rose.
SCR Theatre Conservatory Students Shine on Stage

In today’s performance of A Christmas Carol, you’ll see young actors in the roles of Martha, Belinda, Peter and “Tiny” Tim Cratchit. And Turkey Boy. And the specters of “Want” and “Ignorance.” And the young people among the partygoers. All of them are students in SCR’s Theatre Conservatory who earned the roles through hard work, talent, and the growth and promise they have shown in their classes.

“The students selected for A Christmas Carol show maturity, focus, confidence and an overall readiness to take on the exciting challenge. It’s a thrill for us to provide young actors this singular opportunity to perform and learn next to professional artists in this beloved classic,” says Hisa Takakuwa, conservatory director, who portrayed Sally and Toy Lady in A Christmas Carol for 14 years and has been assistant director for more than a dozen years. “Each year’s cast of 16 young actors brings a new life and energy to this wonderful show.”

Nearly 80 conservatory students, between the ages of 8 and 18, audition for the annual holiday classic. They must have at least two years of conservatory training, show strength in their class work and have the recommendation of their teacher.

“Conservatory acting classes guide students toward understanding the artistic process, discovering their creativity and building their ability to work confidently with others,” explains Takakuwa. “Our students learn through their work in this production and when they resume classes, we see how much they have grown as artists.”

“A Christmas Carol” Experience Leaves Lasting Impact

We asked Theatre Conservatory students from past productions of SCR’s A Christmas Carol what made the experience special for them.

“All the other actors shared my enthusiasm for acting. I also loved being in a professional play and having to work really hard because it was fun to work hard. I also enjoyed performing in front of a lot of people.”

—Carissa Diller (Belinda Cratchit, 2015)

“A Christmas Carol was integral to my growth as an artist and in my education. I learned that dedication requires stamina; that being present requires focus; and commitment to your fellow artists requires commitment to your choices. This experience shaped me and I am so grateful for that.”

—Sanaz Toossi (Martha Cratchit, 2008)

“A Christmas Carol was my first professional stage experience and it helped me gain insight into the entire production process, which inspired me to pursue a BA in theatre from UCSD. Today, I am a K-8 educator and theatre artist—I even worked as the child assistant for the 2015 season of A Christmas Carol—and I would argue that the experience of working on this production was one of the most impactful moments of my training in the Theatre Conservatory’s Kids and Teen Program, as well as my academic career.”

—Brianna Beach (Martha Cratchit, 2007 and Fan, 2008)

“A Christmas Carol was a portal into the world of the professional actor. While I got the chance to explore my craft with sage adult actors, I also developed crucial leadership skills among the younger actors.”

—Christopher Huntley (Boy Scrooge, 2008 and Peter Cratchit, 2011)
Sandra Tsing Loh has spent time revisiting her toe-shoe technique for Sugar Plum Fairy (Dec. 2-24), an irreverent take on the holidays.

Loh admits she has mixed feelings about Christmas, with its piles of tinsel, reindeer infestations and the too-cheery tales of preternaturally good-hearted children. She especially hates the memory of a particularly fraught holiday when, at age 12, Loh was obsessed with landing a highly coveted role in the Miss Beverly Rosann School of Dance’s production of The Nutcracker. With Loh’s trademark candor and razor-sharp wit, she pirouettes us back into the past, to her preteen dreams of boys and ballet, to the sheer anguish of having a more talented older sister and to the horrors and wonders of growing up. Sugar Plum Fairy is both sweet and sour (and laugh-out loud funny) in just the right doses.

Loh reteams with Shannon Holt (who made us laugh so much through her multi-characters in Loh’s earlier hit, The Madwoman in the Volvo, and will take on numerous roles in Sugar Plum; and they are joined by Tony Abatemarco, who most recently has been seen in South Coast Repertory’s Peter and the Starcatcher (hilarious as Mrs. Bumbrake) and Bach at Leipzig.

Loh’s play, The Madwoman in the Volvo, premiered at South Coast Repertory in 2015 and subsequently ran at Pasadena Playhouse and Berkeley Repertory Theatre. The New York Times selected her book of the same name for its 100 Most Notable Books list and Variety named her as one of the 50 Most Influential Communicators. She has been a regular commentator on NPR’s “Morning Edition,” and on PRI’s “This American Life” and “Marketplace”; her weekly segment, “The Loh Life” is heard on KPCC. She combines her communication and science skills into her syndicated daily minute, “The Loh Down on Science,” which is heard weekly by four million people. Her honors and awards include a Pushcart Prize, MacDowell fellowship and three National Magazine Award nominations. She is a contributing editor for The Atlantic Monthly and an adjunct professor of visual art and science communication at the University of California, Irvine.

Sandra Tsing Loh’s “Naughty” Take on the Holidays

A chat with SCR’s A Christmas Carol adaptor

What is your favorite memory of SCR’s *A Christmas Carol?

“I remember getting up at 4:30 a.m. in Huntington Beach during the summer of 1980 to write the adaptation that SCR first presented that Christmas. The sun was up early, blazing across my desk, while I tried to put myself in London in December. It wasn’t that hard—Charles Dickens overpowered life at the beach almost every morning.

Why has the story of A Christmas Carol endured?

“Most writers never manage to create an archetypal role. Dickens created a number of them, and Ebenezer Scrooge is probably the most widely known. Dickens’ account of Scrooge’s redemption is an annual reminder that while we’re alive, we still have the capacity to serve others, to reach for greater humanity, and that, as Scrooge comes to know, to do so is a privilege.”

There are so many adaptations and variations on the original Dickens story. What makes SCR’s adaptation unique?

“I think SCR’s decision to create a production set in London, but not specifically British or realistic, has given the show a universal quality that speaks to our Southern California audiences. The resultant theatricality of the production makes it immediate, accessible and communal for our audiences in ways that some of the very good film versions, which rely on specificity and realistic detail, can’t really do as well. At the play’s end, our audiences are as much a part of Fred’s Christmas party as the actors onstage.”

Dwight Richard Odle (Costumes) has dressed SCR’s A Christmas Carol for all of its 38-year run, while also designing more than 90 other productions here in both scenery and costumes. As the Laguna Playhouse resident designer for 15 seasons, he created some 160 productions, including eight world premieres, again handling both scenery and costumes for its adult and youth theatre presentations. Odle’s designs have graced the Fullerton Music Theatre, Mainstreet Theatre Company, McCoy-Rigby Entertainment, Westwood and Pasadena Playhouses, Universal Studios, Disney, SeaWorld, Robert Redford’s Sundance Resort and theme parks in Seoul and Barcelona. He served as art director for the late Pope John Paul’s 1987 Mass in Dodger Stadium. With an MFA degree from the Yale School of Drama, Odle has been a theatre professor at CSU Fullerton, Stanford and UC Irvine and has been honored for lifetime achievement by Arts Orange County and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle. He made a gift of his 19,000-piece costume collection to the Dodge College of Film and Media Studies at Chapman University as an educational resource for its advanced filmmakers.

Donna and Tom Ruzika (Lighting Design) celebrate their 38th year of designing A Christmas Carol and 45 years of marriage. They have enjoyed collaborating on productions at SCR, the Hollywood Bowl and other regional theatres. Ms. Ruzika has designed productions at Utah Shakespeare Festival, Kansas City Repertory, Alabama Shakespeare Festival, Laguna Playhouse, The Colony Theatre, Fullerton Civic Light Opera, Pasadena Playhouse and Long Beach’s International City Theatre. Her work has also been seen in Cairo, Egypt, Bogotá, Colombia, and Barcelona, Spain. Mr. Ruzika’s designs have been seen on Broadway, in national tours, at major regional theatres, and with many national and international dance and opera companies. His entertainment lighting can be seen at theme parks in six countries and his architectural lighting can be seen in prestigious hotels, casinos, restaurants, retail centers and performing arts centers across the nation and in Europe and Asia. Mr. Ruzika has received numerous awards for his contributions to the art and craft of lighting design.

Denis McCarthy (Musical Arrangement/Composer) returns to SCR, where he previously composed music for An Italian Straw Hat, Getting Frankie Married—and Afterwards, Ben and the Magic Paintbrush, The Beard of Avon, Much Ado about Nothing, and Of Mice and Men.
